

Somewhere on the shore of the Black Sea – where a small stream meanders along the edge of the forest – there is a cottage.

This is the cottage.

Everything you could wish for grows in the garden.

But let's see who lives in this little house.

First of all, there are Fyodor and Vasiliy here, the two dogs.

Then, these are Olga, Irina and Masha. They are sisters.

Then there is also Nihilolai, but he mostly just grazes beyond the fence.

Now let's go inside and get to know the people who live in the house.

Welcome Konstantin. He's writing something. Since morning already.

Actually, it's been many, many weeks. I mean, for months.

If it doesn't work, it doesn't work... Let's let Konstantyn continue to think.

This is Anfisa. He's in the kitchen and doing... something. Well, let's move on.

Alexey Petrovich Stroganoff lives in the third room. This is him.

Natalya lives in the room next to him. But quietly, so as not to disturb her in her... activities (?) Let's say.

Now let's see what Boris is doing. He's in the dining room, building a fire. Like every day. Boris likes to start fires.

This is Polina. I wouldn't say more about her.

Nyina lives in the seventh room. This is Nyina.

And Masha is in the eighth room. This is Masa. And she is in mourning of her life.

They all live in this cottage. And since not much happens to them, day to day, our film ends here.

Really.