

LAMENT NO. 1
(250 SIGNS DESCRIPTION)

Crying is commonly considered an indispensable part of mourning. It brings solace and helps to accept the loss. Suppressing emotions is often frowned upon, especially among the closest relatives. After his mother's death, Jan finds himself unable to shed a tear. When the rest of the family gathers at the deceased's apartment, the situation becomes more complicated...